Age Is To Be Served

While we have been boasting about the longer life expectancy and the number of older citizens existing on pensions and social security, we weren't being very prudent. Older workers are retiring at such a rate, they are beginning to dip into their principal, the social security fund that is supposed to contribute to their support the rest of their natural lives.

At the beginning of this fiscal year, it looked as if the Social Security fund was taking $7.4 billions from social security. But the rest of us, still working and contributing our money each week will only put in $6.9 billions this fiscal year. They will be dipping in for a half billion more than we're kicking in.

The actuarial tables miscalculated. Or maybe people are retiring too soon, as soon as they reach the legal retirement age. The fact is, that except for those in hard or hazardous work that ages them too soon, the use of the Social Security fund is better off working beyond the calendar terms.

If you can't add or subtract, the bank must take the consequences when you draw a check.

So long as this constitutional loophole is left open and these agreements are allowed to remain terms.

HERMAN TALMADGE OUT OF THE PAST Part Fact-Part Fancy

By Maude Brannen

England knew how to get rid of her undesirable. She sent her criminals to Australia and they had to live with cannibals. By cleaned her prisons of debtors and sent them to this new land, America, for her old crazy king.

Which reminds me: South Georgia has been under five flags: Indian, Spanish, English and Bonnie Blue and the Union Jack.

Suppose everybody in our country who owed money were put in prison? Who would be free? England had the crazy law of putting debtors in jail. When the jail became over-crowded, and the task of feeding the poor souls became too arduous, England hired General Oglethorpe to clean out the jails and bring the unfortunate debtors to America. They had only Indians, Spaniards and wild animals to contend with.

These debtors were not given grants along the rivers. They were sent to the west to do menial work of the old country.

You know, that the choice land along both banks of the Ogeechee River was once owned and lived on by the Indians. Parts of North Georgia were settled before the South. The English really thought they had come to stay. We showed them otherwise.

Oglethorpe was a practical man; he laid out the new town of Savannah along utilitarian lines. The beautiful parks of today were once vegetable gardens, where the poor Londoners could grow their food.

After the debtors were settled, German immigrants were brought over. The Moravians could not get along with their Lutheran co-

THE BACKWARD LOOK

TEN YEARS AGO

The First Baptist Church of Statesboro, and twenty other Baptist churches in Bulloch County and the Ogeechee River Association, will co-operate in an old-fashioned revival to begin in Statesboro, September 8th.

The Statesboro tobacco market may be in the final week, unless tobacco is reported that is not now being sold. This week's stretch week does not now look strong enough to bring Statesboro under the wire as the state's No. 1 market in pounds for 1947. Race for top position is being fought between Douglas, Tifton, Moultrie, and Valdosta. 12,000,000 sold on local market for average of $38.40 per hundred.

Social events: Mrs. Leff DeLoach entertained with a delightful morning party during the past week as a courtesy to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. G. DeLoach, of Columbus. Members of the Bridge Guild were delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. Hines at her apartment on College Street.

Statesboro tobacco market closed the season with a total of 5,448,280 pounds received, leading all other Georgia markets with one set of buyers. The average price received was approximately 20 cents per pound.

Social events: Miss Evelyn Mathews, whose marriage to Bob Pound will be an early event, was honor guest at a party Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. J. J. Zetterow. World was in Pennsylvania. Out a few miles from Lancaster is an old Irish church, Donegal. This was the place the newly arrived immigrants registered and it was the dispersal point. Part of a family of brothers would stay north, one brother would move into new opened Ohio, a third would find the same names, York, Lancaster, Carlisle, Chester, but in Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

Our ancestors were not poor prison debtors, but fine, unpretentious folk from the North British Isles. Oglethorpe had no vision of what these piney harrens could blossom into within 200 years, under the leadership of fine men and brave women.

Or, maybe he does know!

There are always brave souls with the pioneering spirit who live to following the fringes of civilization. It took some of these pioneers to make their way from north to south. Some came down the sea from early settled Virginia, others by land from the north. But many came down the Shenandoah Valley into North Carolina, to South Carolina into Georgia. Wheeler Explains S. S. Law

The State Department of Veterans Service has invited the attention of Georgia Veterans with service-connected disabilities to the new Social Security rights as provided in amendments recently passed by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower.

Pete Wheeler recently revealed that these new amendments now provide that veterans with service-connected disabilities may receive a full disability benefit under Social Security along with their full disability compensation from the Veterans Administration.

"Prior to the enactment of this new law," Wheeler said, "the Social Security payment of disability veterans was reduced by the amount of compensation received from service-connected disabilities. The effect will continue to apply in cases involving veterans' pensions which are paid for non-service-connected disabilities."

Wheeler explained that another provision of the new rules extend the deadline for persons severely disabled before January 1, 1955, to file an application for a "free" to protect their Social Security benefits rights. The original deadline to apply for a "free" was June 30, 1955, the new deadline is June 30, 1958.

Social Security benefits are based on the average earnings of the individual. Under the new "free" provision, years of no earnings may be dropped in computing the average earnings. This retains full benefits for disabled workers, based on their period of actual employment, Wheeler said.

To hear the early morning news by radio is not so bad, but to look at a television newscaster with a long over at 7 a. m., reading Ruters dispatches he knows not the meaning of, is too much for me.

Hattie Carnegie Is Coming To Statesboro

By Mrs. John Paul Jones and John F. Land

THOUGHT FOR TODAY
By Mrs. John Paul Jones and John F. Land

"IF YOU THINK YOU'LL LOSE, YOU'VE LOST... FOR OUT IN THE WORLD YOU'LL FIND... SUCCESS BEGINS WITH A FELLOW'S WILL... IT'S ALL IN THE STATE OF MIND..."

It's surprising how most of us can, on occasion, conjure up worries, doubts, indecisions, and fears in our minds. Some of our state of mind is such that these worries are cultivated into full-blown complexes which dull our ability to handle problems with the confidence necessary for success.

Some people have the happy faculty of being able to condition their minds to concerning their thoughts with the ways and means of solving a problem or with vague, uneasy thoughts of impending defeat. This is the healthy state of mind which provides impetus to the will to succeed.

By the way, JONES THE FLOREST, 113 North College St., has the happy faculty of providing flowers to make any day a happy event. For birthdays, anniversaries, parties, or any of a dozen special occasions, JONES THE FLOREST has flowers to give that day the perfect touch. Phone FO 4-2102.

SEEKING BLACK GOLD IN GEORGIA—Here is a rare Georgia scene which may soon be a familiar sight throughout the state, if a group of Georgia businessmen's efforts to bring in the state's first commercial oil well are successful.

Shown here is a well drilling rig being used to sink Tripoli Oil Well No. 2 near Hawkinsville. The rig operates in much the same manner as a large brace and bit, and it stands as high as a ten story building.

The State of Georgia is offering a bonus of $250,000 to those who first produce oil in commercial quantities in Georgia, but only a small part of the group's profits are to be shared. A fraction of the benefit to Georgia's economy, if it is found under Georgia soil, according to officers of Chattahoochee Oil & Gas Corporation, sponsors of the middle Georgia oil venture.

AN UNMARKED GRAVE may become a neglected, forgotten one. A Memorial in marble or granite will symbolize it, for all times, as the abode of one for whom another cared. We can help in the selection of a stone, suited in purpose and cost.

Work in an office? Here are some tips that will help you fight fatigue and keep your eyes from attacking everyone: Give your eyes a break by improving your lighting. Test your eyes for a few seconds every hour or so (just close them and massage gently with your finger tips). Try a drop or two of eye lotion and don't force your eyes to do more than they can take. Chances are these simple remedies will give you the lift you need to finish out the day at top efficiency.

Enriched Meal Is Beneficial

Research and surveys show that one out of ten people in Bulloch County would benefit from the vitamins and minerals added to enriched corn meal.

Enriched corn meal is available in Bulloch County at very little extra cost. This enriched meal has the same taste and cooking quality as non-enriched meal. It costs the miller three cents per bushel to add the three vitamins and two minerals to corn meal.

The average person in Bulloch County will eat about one bushel of meal per year. In other words for a cost of three cents per person per year a person can be sure they are getting the recommended daily allowance of three vitamins and two minerals for better health for a year.

The Bulloch County Extension Agents would like to inform the people of the county with the results of National research and surveys with corn meal enrichment. The USDA reported this month that one out of ten people had a diet that was low in the three vitamins and two minerals added by enrichment. The National Research Council has shown in the laboratory and with field trials that people will benefit from the addition of vitamins and minerals to a staple food. Corn meal has been selected as the carrier for enrichment in the south.

If our people would like additional information on this subject, a set of slides on the nutritional diseases vitamins and minerals will cure or prevent, can be secured by our County Extension Agents.

Livestock Parasites Costly

Livestock parasites are now making a "two-prong" attack on farmers' profits. The American Foundation for Animal Health warned today.

"Not only do these pests cause a loss by making stock unthrifty, they also lower the resistance of livestock, making them more easy prey to infectious diseases."

Authorities listed several diseases which may develop following parasite infestations. Pneumonia can easily follow damage done by lung worms to sheep. The parasites block portions of the lung, thus causing pneumonia. This disease may also be caused in sheep when intestinal flukes penetrate the liver. Peritonitis in pigs is commonly caused by thornhead worms penetrating intestinal walls. Practically all parasitized animals suffer from anemia, and there are numerous other problems for which parasites can help pave the way.

"Farmers should adopt a continuous program to combat animal parasites of all kinds," the Foundation said. "Eradication is often difficult, and each case should be checked by a veterinarian to make sure the correct measures are used and to avoid loss of time and animals. Where parasites have led to a disease condition, the diagnosis may be complex and difficult."

SOIL-WATER CONSERVATION
By E. T. ("Red") Mullis

Planning for complete soil and water conservation and good land use was the keynote of the National Conservation Conference held in Washington, D. C., last week. These otherwise absentee farmers were very much present, working and vacationing all at the same time. They plan to continue with the acreage reserve part of the Soil Bank while planting and tending the eroded land to protect it for future use. Pensacola bahia grass will be used for pasture 4 or 5 years, then turned and row cropped 2 or 3 years while more bahia is being planted.

The conservation part of the Soil Bank has gone beyond the past two years, but next year will see a big change. Forward looking farmers are planning to take advantage of the tree planting phase next year. They are ordering pine seedlings now for planting after the first of the year for the 1958 Soil Bank Program. This is a wise step on their part because seedlings may again be in short supply this year.

Good planning in land use is of prime importance when going in to this part of the Soil Bank. A ten year contract is entered into in the case with trees, and no additional land can be brought in to cultivation during the contract period. Land so sandy, wet or eroded for safe cultivation should first be placed in the "Bank". Provisions should be made to protect the "banked" acres from fire and grazing.

The big question most everybody asks is "Will it reduce my allotments?" No, your allotments will not be affected by your reduction in total cultivated land due to the Soil Bank.

OVER A HALF CENTURY OF SERVICE WHERE NEEDED

ESTABLISHED 1892

To Protest Increase In Gas Rates

The City of Statesboro, along with all other cities and gas companies served by Southern Natural Gas Company, wholesale suppliers of natural gas, has been notified of a new schedule of rates which Southern Natural proposes to put into effect September 14, 1957. Unless suspended by the Federal Power Commission, this new schedule will increase natural gas rates approximately 33 per cent.

Mayor Bill Bowen stated this week that the Mayor and Council have taken immediate action on behalf of the citizens of Statesboro to protest this proposed increase which will effect every user of natural gas in the area served by Southern Natural. Acting through the Georgia Municipal Association, of which Mayor Bowen is a Director, Statesboro, along with 26 other Georgia cities, participated in the international exchange of letters protesting the proposed rate increase.

The Mayor, the City Engineer, James Bland, will leave for Atlanta on September 10 to confer with representatives of the National Gas Section of the Georgia Municipal Association and the Georgia Public Service Commission in an attempt to coordinate and organize the efforts of all affected Georgia cities in fighting this rate increase.

Employees Will Share Profits

Employees of the Winn-Dixie Stores are over two million dollars richer today according to an announcement by H. L. Avery, Vice President in charge of all affected Georgia cities in fighting this rate increase.

The Retirement Trust, now in its eleventh year, has assets in excess of $9,000,000 which represents individual accounts of the 2800 eligible employees.

"We feel that we have one of the finest employee benefit programs in the country," Mr. Avery said. "In addition to our Profit Sharing Program, our employees have low cost group life insurance, hospital and accident insurance, sick pay program, stock purchase plan and college scholarship program for their children, to name a few. We know that security is a vital factor for every employee and we strive to meet this responsibility insofar as it is within our power."

GRADUATES FROM SCHOOL

Sgt. William O. Pyle of Statesboro, recently was graduated from the Infantry School's advanced non-commissioned officers course at Fort Benning, Ga.

Jappy Akins Chosen For CAP Cadets Honors

Jappy Akins, of Statesboro, is among the seventeen Georgia FFA members who have been recommended for the American Farmer degree.

This is the highest level of membership in the Future Farmers of America, national organization of boys studying vocational agriculture in high school.

T. G. Walters, state supervisor of agricultural education, says the national board of Student Officers and Directors have revealed the Georgia applications and recommended that the 17 young farmers receive the coveted degree.

Approval by the boards usually is tantamount to election, but delegates at the annual FFA convention which meets in Kansas City October 14-17 must formally accept the recommendation.

The FFA constitution limits the American Farmer degree to one member per thousand in any one county. Candidates must have been out of high school at least one year and not more than three, and they must show evidence of becoming successfully established in farming. Nationally, 363 candidates are being recommended this year.

The award is based on leadership as well as proficiency in farming.

Presentation of the degree is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, October 15, in the Municipal Auditorium at Kansas City where some 10,000 Future Farmers will be assembled for the 40th national convention. Each winner receives a certificate and $100 from the National FFA Foundation.
